Well, Mike, at this time you are unaware that I am defecating (that means "writing in") your yearbook. Tough sh... no, wait aminute! Mommy might get ahold of this. Besides, I don't want to seem much cruder than I am to the rest of the girls that sign this (including one of the ones that already has. I won't mention any names.) But as my own variation on the standard saying "Knowing you this year was a real let-down!" No, actually, we had some pretty good times together. Sniff, Sniff... Oh, I think I'm going to cryyyyyyyy! As a final guideline for your summer activities, I want to tell you to keep your pants on (except, of course, when the situation demands it! Alright! Hubba-hubba!) What do you mean I've written too much?

Bobby Shaffer, Std.

Mike,
It's been a good year just think we've known each other since Band Camp & Drill Camp. We've had lots of fun and I hope we have more next year.

actually, it shouldn't be too hard to find anything in this yearbook. even if yan never even look at the table of contents or the index, almost every page has an identifying headline on the outside edge of the page for easy locating. senior pictures go fram page 12 to page 33, at the beginning of the book. they are followed by junior pictures fram page 39 to page 47. sophomores cover pages 52 thraugh 65. the freshmen are seen on pages 70 thraugh 81. the faculty/staff can be found fram page 86 to page 105. then for about 14 pages there are pictures-of-and-writing-abant varians clubs & organizatians, including an location & rapw. fram page 120 to page 135 is coverage of events that took place prior to March, because that's when we sent the last stuff off to the yearbook printer. sparts is the same way: any sparts which took place after early spring/late winter aren't here either → they'll be in the bonus magazine ↗

(or "supplement", as they say) VIZ, which you'll get in the mail during the summer. athletics goes from page 150 to page 177. between page 138 & 149 are pages of pictures & writing about (or us, I guess it'd be). in between the first sections, there are candids & daily writings, like pockets of dry powdered milk in water, & if you read/look at them along with the sections they seperate, it'll be like a good stirring & then you can drink it. there are ads on 180 through 185, the index goes from 186 through 191, & then the book ends. there are a few little suprises i didn't mention, but you can find them on your own. this book is All black & white, so i suggest you buy some felt pens & Add your own color, or you could use watercolors, but it might make the paper curl & get weird. anything you add to it will make it that much better. you have to do more than just have your friends sign it then put it up on your bookshelf & let it collect dust! those pictures were taken by joe kollmann (the ones on this page)...

Mrs. Worthington, I think I love myself. I wasn't sure at first, but now I am. Every ~~things~~ time I walk by a mirror I have to stop and look.

When I was a freshman that is all I wrote about, what a joke.

I think that today has been the worst day of my schoolyear. I have been in the worst mood possible, been breaking out into tears over nothing that I can put my finger on. Life is so totally screwed and being a teenager in High School has got to be the worst of all. Pweuk.

This past Sunday, we pom-pommed at the San Francisco 49'ers football game. With about 3 billion other squads at the same time. Not really. It was 80 squads all toghter. I had a blast but it was sort of scary with all those 60 thousand eyes upon you even though you know that they're not looking at you in particular. We did some stuff at pre-game and then some at half-time routines. The theme was a circus. How dumb. But I got so interested in watching the lady and the elephant that I almost forgot to do the routine. It was so strange. There was this kind of fat lady in a sequinned jobber and her act was to lay down on the ground and let the elephant lay on top of her. I thought for sure she would be squashed to death. But while watching it, somehow it began to look gross. It was really dumb. But I have to hand it to her for getting the biggest round of applause. What a job she's got.

Today was really quick. It seems like an hour ago that I came to school. I am pretty excited about the game at Liberty Friday because this really foxy girl and I are going to go to it alone. Maybe I will get to do a little licky face and Huggy Bear. I learned those two words the other day from this guy who is really funny. I have terrible english. Today Sue smiled at me again. I hope all comes off Friday and if we win the game, that to it one thing leads to another with the excitement and everything well you know.

I just found a new Locker I can use. This will add to my collection. I finally found one near the math building so i can keep my math junk in that locker. I have two near the cr buildings and I have 1 near the FL buildings and one near the SS building and one near the S buildings. So now i have a locker for each class.

There was once a guy I knew when I lived in San Jose, who had 573 pigeons, and when he let them out to exercise, everybody stayed in the house. They would fly around the block about 10 times and then he'd call them in.

Well, I guess my schedule is as straightened out as it will ever be. I got a taste of all my classes today, yech. It's going to be a very long year. I think I will like writing these. I can bitch all I want and no one bitches back. Actually I feel like Jim in that book "Flowers for Algenon", like Jim writing progress reports. I really like this. Today in Civics we had to write a paper on ourselves and make an educated guess where we'd be and what we'd be doing in one year. How should I know. Everything's always changing. I hate making decisions especially big ones. I can't even decide whether or not to go to the Stanford-Penn. game with Scott on Saturday or work like I should.

On child development today Ryan painted a picture. While he was painting it about 6 people went by from the cooking class and tried to guess what it was: Los Angeles in the summer, a hippomotasum, a kid riding his bike, a mole, a lobster. when I asked him what it was he said it was a giant chicken. He then changed his mind and said it was a cage with dinosaurs in it. It was a great picture for grandpa and grandma.

i am sitting quietly doodling on the reverse side of a ditto which no longer serves any purpose except as the container of my mind wanderings.

3 girls & 1 boy are sitting about three yards to my left. 2 of the girls and the boy are having an incredibley Smiley conversation. it is about some person they dislike.they are talking about all the dumb things she's done.they are Really enjoying themselves.
under the table,the boy's hand is moving slowly along the leg of the girl who isn't talking.she is just smiling,occaisionally looking a bit uncompfortable or nervous.she is wearing nylon stockings.his hand doesn't move smoothly along her leg,but it seems to get caught on the rough,foriegn surface.
the conversation changes to water skiing,the boy suddenly removes his hand.he has to go to auto shop. the girls say Goodbye to him all at once.after he leaves,the girl looks relieved. the three of them start whispering. the other 2 are Very excited.

And now the time has come—

There is sadness in leaving a place that has become a part of you for the last four years, but there is also great happiness. As a class we have matured to the point where we must move on and form new relations and start our lives over again.

The senior class as a whole has felt the triumphs and setbacks of growing up at Monte Vista and have experienced a mutual feeling of love for our classmates.

The memories of the junior prom, the floats, the dances, the donut sales and the senior ball will be with us forever, and only because they were a part of us.

Now it is time for the class of '74 to enter the world. I hope each of us will be successful in setting and achieving our goals in life and may we all live long and be prosperous.

Yesterday all the Psychology classes went on a field trip. It was in San Francisco for observations. We just goofed around all day. There were pretty many weird people, but gosh this school is loaded with weirdos. That's why it's practically a challenge to go to school. Oh, I know every school has it's weirdos, but I like to think of us as "special".

Toodle-loo!

Mike, Too bad you got out of our great Music dept. but life must have been great on the outside. Good Luck and work hard. Virginia Billow '71

Today Stinks

Actually, I had a far more colourful and descriptive adjective to describe today in more accurate terms, but nice girls don't say those kind of things, much less write them in their d.w.'s.

Last night my mom called me down to talk to her. I thought that I was getting in trouble. Then my mom said in a deep voice, "Karen," I go, "yea?" She goes "Karen the ants ate your birthday cake." So one of her friends brought over a mix and I made it. As it turned out everything was fine.

Yesterday was the most frustrated day of my life. I've got so many little problems, but I can't tell anyone. It's really hard keeping everything inside. I've never ~~hard~~ had to keep things to myself. I guess maybe it will make an individual out of me. I sure hope so. Yesterday Donna told me something, and now we both have to keep the biggest secret. I mean this is practically a scandal. Whew.

Big news!

This is a daily writing. This is a make-up D.W. I am doing this because I have nothing else to do. If I have nothing to do I get very depressed and despondent. I learned the word despondent in fourth grade. I will never forget the day I learned that word. It was a snowy, rainy, cold, sad, depressing, dark day. I really identified with it. That is how I comprehended the meaning of the word despondent.

Joe is dumb. he likes this senior girl, but she doesnt like him. I saw him sitting beside her eating lunch. he did not talk to her at all, he just sat there and stared at her, he just stared right at her and did not say a word. she tried to look like she was looking at someone else but you could tell she was nervous.

I just gave my report in Biology. It was hilarious, I was supposed to have my terrarium put together about a month ago but I finished it last night and one of the questions asked of me was how long have those plants been growing and I said overnight, everyone cracked up and I turned as red as my shirt. But I hope I got a good grade.

My body is starting to fall apart. Every day for two to three hours I work my rear end off in gymnastics trying to out do Annie because there's this girl named Louise and we both really like her and she likes the one of us who is better. Right now I'm about equal with him.

Today is a drag. Don't you think so? I have about ten tests today. Thats too bad. I wish I knew where to go. Somewhere, anywhere to go would be nice. Butt I can't think of anything to do at all, just nothing at all. My family's doing nicely, stocks are up. Thats nice but not nice enough.

ON TO THE SEQUOIA [The big horn]

The Hadleys entered the creuice and proceeded up the rocks. A strange mooing sound was heard above the snowflakes. Out of the snow leaped some big horn sheep. "Who are you dudes?" asked the biggest sheep.

The Hadleys were spellbound!

"Uh-duh-luh" mumbled Croylis in awe.

"O.K. boys!" The leader yelled to his sheep comrades and they started towards the Hadleys.

Oh well! Today is only Thursday and then after tomorrow we will have a four day weekend. May the Lord bless the person or persons responsible for this fantastic event. I would love to truck to Santa Cruz for at least three days but I probably won't be able to.

This past Sunday, we pom-pommed at the San Fransisco 49'ers football game. With about 3 billion other squads at the same time. Not really. It was 80 squads all together. I had a blast but it was sort of scary with all those 60 thousand eyes upon you even though you know that they're not looking at you in particular. We did some stuff at pre-game and then some half-time routines. Theme was a circus. How dumb. But I got so interested in watching the lady and the elephant that I almost forgot to do the routine. It was so ~~very~~ strange. There was this kind of fat lady in a sequined jobber and her act was to lay down on the ground and let the elephant lay on top of her. I thought for sure she would be squashed to death. But while watching it, some-how it began to look gross. It was really dumb . But I have to hand it to her for getting the biggest round of applause. What a job she's got.

Right now I am in CR 1-4 and you are in the CR teacher's room. You are in the CR teacher's room. A wall and two thin doors seperate us. I can hear you laughing and can picture you crowded around the table, the air filled with smoke, cups of coffee and full ash trays. On my side is a huge room. Very busy looking, but now very still. I am sitting here scraching at my paper. It is interesting how little space physically, but how much space in levels of thought seperate us right now. In fact you don't even know I'm here.

Wednesday night in Amigos we watched a film of a natural childbirth. It was very touching as well as informative. Breathing techniques and positions were explained. When the woman was having the baby everyone in the room felt excitement. Some had strained looks on their faces and the guy next to me was breathing harder. When it was over I had tears in my eyes. It was really a marvelous thing.

I'll do a description. There are orange and gold loops which are mashed together very closely. In places, it is obvious that people walked on it with mud on their shoes. There are papers scattered lightly over the surface. The librarian let down her hair. It covers the whole area of the room. She brushes and brushes it. This needs a vacuum cleaner. How do you think I'll do as a secretary taking dictation?

Daily Writing

What could be better on a monday morning when your supposed to have a test first period than when the teacher forgets to take her book home to make up the test? Especially if you didn't study and almost made the mistake of staying home just to evade the test. Well it just happened to me and it feel great! My whole mood and disposition went from Dull to Dynamite.

On Location is an alternative to the regular classroom atmosphere. Instead of sitting at a desk reading a book, On Location can take one to the top of the world to read. It is an experience that prepares people for the unexpected happenings in life. How can life be explored behind four walls? The only boundaries in On Location are the edges of one's imagination.

"The incredible experience of living was introduced to us in the past year. Through each encounter with life, respect and knowledge developed. As these characteristics grew deeper, a feeling of responsiveness came about. When life began to respond, a pathway to the ultimate goal gradually took shape. There are no boundaries in love, it never ends, but gets deeper."

R.A.P.W. — Research and Publications Workshop — is the group whose mission (or misery) it is to produce LA VISTA and EL MESTENGO. While the program has yet to celebrate its first birthday, it is now as assured as anything ever is that the infant will survive. We look forward to lurching into a babbling childhood in '75, but we hope never to outgrow the boisterous adolescence awaiting us thereafter.

R.A.P.W., along with On Location and Feast, represents a new concept in program organization here at Monte Vista — the sub-school. It meets all afternoon daily and study is based on courses in the English, Art, and Social Studies departments. This approach is educationally chic and also helps R.A.P.W. to put out revealing and sophisticated publications, because every phase of production, from content development through illustration, is taught as subject matter in the class.

Further, R.A.P.W. has fun, as well as delirium. We are pictured below at the gala return of our beloved editor from his mid-winter escapisma; this event followed many fooders, freak-outs, and frivolities, not to mention a fandango or two. Come join us!

FEAST has proved to be a true asset to the school lunches, making them edible. The FEAST program has provided many a lunch to the numerous organizations around and involved in the school. This class taught by Mr. Leong is very interesting and informative. The many students involved; Medley King, Jeff Williams, Lonnie Tiesiera, Craig Anderson, Debbie McTaggert, Chris Duprau, Sue Robnet, Doug Smithson, Pam Cantitian, and Ron Simons.

There are many more bands in the school, namely the Jazz and Symphonic Bands, which both have fantastic ensembles. They perform during rallies, football and basketball games, in the amphitheatre; just naming a few things they do besides going on tour, and performing in schools and other assemblies. They add a certain pizzazz to the school.

The music department consists of five daily music classes: Beginning Girls Chorus, Mixed Chorus, Concert Choir, Chamber Singers and a rock music class entitled "Music: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." In addition, two groups were formed this year as special vocal ensembles: Advanced Womens' Ensemble and Mens' Ensemble, as part of the yearly music programs. The groups perform at the Winter Concert, and Spring Concert with the instrumental groups, as well as participating in two special vocal music concerts: the Christmas Dessert and the "Pops" Concert. In addition, the vocal music groups hosted a non-rated choral festival at Monte Vista and participated in a rated festival in the spring. The vocal music groups have increased in size and have improved in quality this year to the point where students are proud to be part of the music programs. If you have not joined a vocal or instrumental group you are missing something really exciting.

Everyone is part of a group of some kind. The few groups seen on the preceding pages contain only a minority of the people at this school. Most of us are more firmly rooted in groups of our own choosing (our friends or people with whom we share a common interest). This page is for YOU to use to capture in whatever way you can the people who figured most prominently in the time you spent here/paste in pictures of them, get them to write here, tape on Anything which will remind you of them (as long as it isn't so big that the book won't close), drawings, or Whatever. This is Your Big Chance, so don't just leave this page blank (like we did).

I LOVE YOU!

a jazz concert

During this Jazz concert at Monte Vista, Art Dougherty (right) dazzled everyone with his superb saxophone playing. Art made a special guest appearance and played with our Jazz Band. They also did a great job. There are many potentially professional musicians involved with this years Jazz Band. Good Luck with all of your endeavors, Jazz Bandnics.

Costume day included laughs and jokes for everyone. It was a nice change from the everyday continuance of school life. Lots and lots of people dressed up or down for this easy going occasion.

Clay Beale (above left) stares transfixedly at two major medical developements as Liz Irvine becomes a voluptuous nurse for the day. Barbara Abbot (above right) dressed as one of the many Bret Harts and Sam Zackheim (below left) did his thing as a freak pigmy. Chet Lambert became an authentic skin diver from his wet suit, right down to the fins.

November sixteenth, nineteen seventy three, was the date of this rock concert. Coordinated by Monte Vista's own King of electronics, Chet Farrow, the concert proved enjoyable to many.

Three bands played for about six hundred viewers while the concert was video-taped as it happened, for possible later use on cable T.V. Heather and Grace, two of the evening's musical talents, played first. Then Deluxe, the most renouned and best sounding group of the three, rocked and boogied to the end of the night. They concluded this very successful concert with just a touch of excellence.

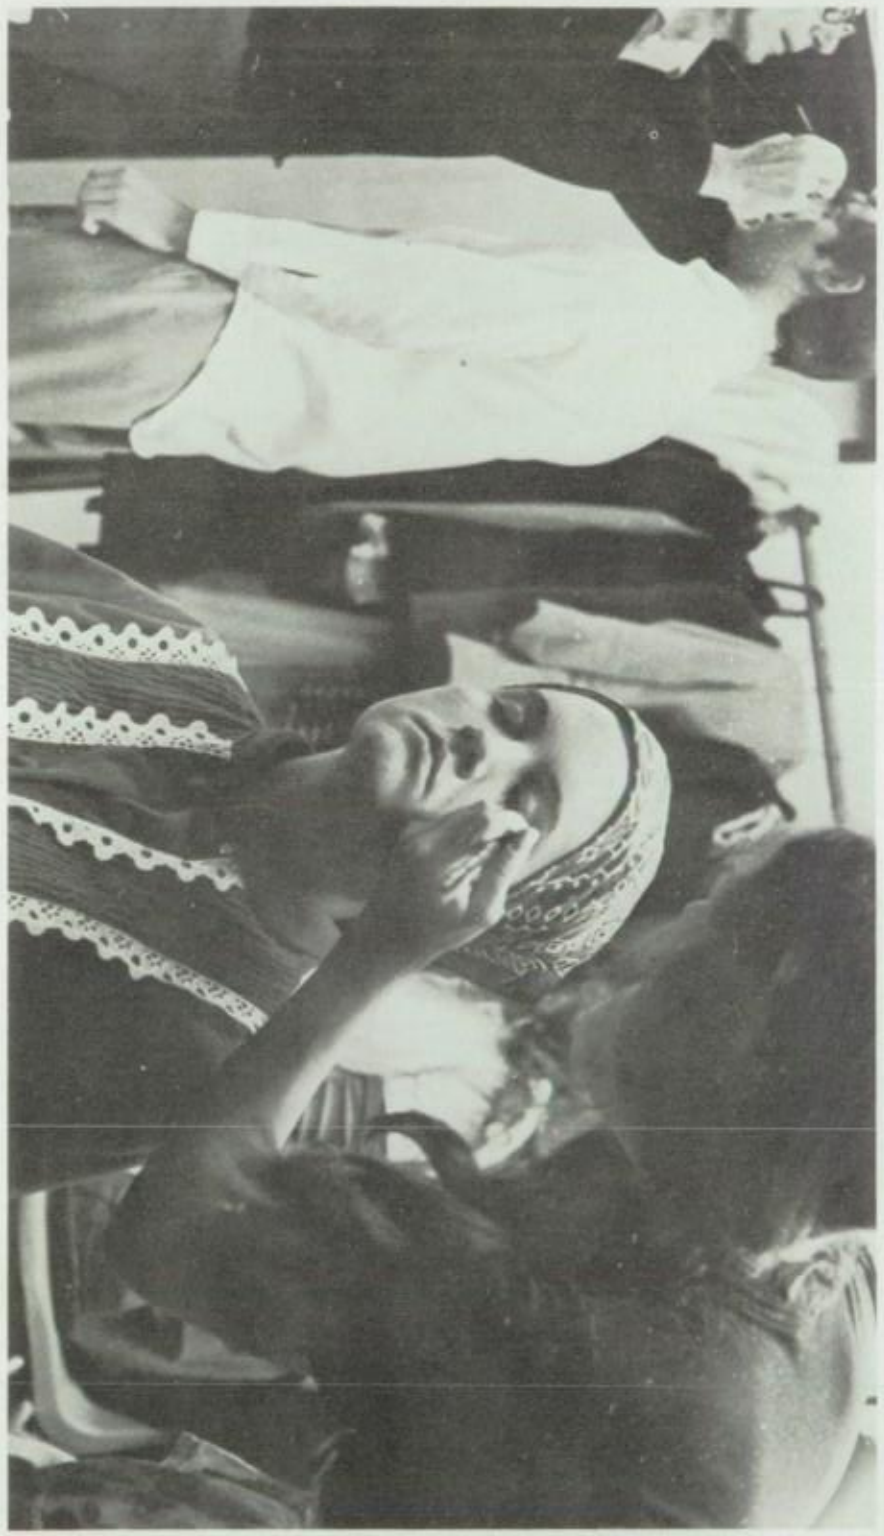
senior play



This year's Senior Play was produced for two weekends in an effort to raise funds for the class's activities. The play included excellent sets and strong acting. Top: Craig Terndrup and Jennifer Benner. Middle: Dan Tierney, Ann Wilkins, and Craig Terndrup. Bottom: Al Gentile touches up Greg Hutch as Kathy Phipps does the same to Judy Nageotte.

enter laughing

Due to special dimensions of the theater, sets were placed in four distinct areas and succeeded in establishing a stronger feeling of changing time and place. Top (l to r) Elise Dement, Craig Terndrup, and Greg Hutch. Middle: Kathy Phipps, Dan Tierney. Bottom: Lee Trolan, Craig Terndrup.

raiders - faculty basketball game

homecoming

This year's Homecoming festivities were successful all the way around. The floats were colorful, the queen and princesses lovely, and the team triumphant as second place Amador Valley High was upset 7-6 by the Mustangs in a hard fought and muddy battle. The Homecoming celebrities (top) in everyday attire: Mickey Glantz, king; (top right). MONTE VISTA

there are a lot of little islands of feeling about the time i've spent here floating around inside of me, and for some reason this picture makes a lot of them clear to me all-at-once, like a map or an aerial photograph. maybe when You look at it, you just see a girl sitting against the wall of the CR, or maybe you recognize her, she's a friend of your's or someone you had a class with once but never really knew. Or You might even Be the girl in the picture, and so you look at yourself smiling up at you. But I don't see any of that; i remember how nice it is to sit back there, especially when the days get warmer as the earth starts moving closer to the sun, with My back against the rough-wood wall and my feet in the grey dust (or sometimes grass), alone with my mindwanderings, or with someone i like/ maybe it's break or lunch or during an unscheduled period, or maybe during a class that got cut for one reason or another. i also remember people who aren't here anymore, people who've moved away or graduated, and people who are still here, but who aren't the way they used to be, and Especially i can remember a lot of the different people I've been, and the things i did and felt when i was those various people. i can recall a lot of things as they were to me Then, as they were seen through the eyes of the person i was at the time, which is quite a bit different from remembering things from the past through the feelings of the present, after passing time has twisted all the pieces so they fit neatly into place in a memory. It used to be really barren back there, but lately gregg has been planting things, and you can see some of that in this picture / it has some of the old and familiar and some of the new. And besides all that, it is just a nice photograph, and the girl looks friendly, like she might be right at the edge of saying hello, but then you turn the page

This years Monte Vista Varsity Football team proved to be one of the most productive in the Mustangs history, as they wrapped up the season with 6 victories, 3 losses, and 1 tie.

Finding themselves in only their second year of competition in the tough EBAL, the Mustangs won three and lost three as they proved to be a worthy opponent in every game.

All-League honors were bestowed on two Monte Vista players this year; they are M.V.P. Bob Gregor, and most valuable lineman Pete MacWilliams. Also doing a superior job on the line were Andy Tate, and Tim Marten.

Coming on in the second half of the season were quarterback Jim Lopez and Ed LeLouis, who both were instrumental in the final three victories.

The Monte Vista Varsity squad proved one thing this year, and that is that Mustangs are winners.

The Mustang J.V.'s seemed to fall short on the score board more times than not this year, as they won two and lost seven.

Playing consistently well throughout the season were M.V.P. Steve Jones, Greg Goodman, Mike Weinchelbaum, and Mark Vantine.

This year's J.V.'s should supply next year's Varsity squad with several good players.

The '73 Monte Vista Mustang Freshman Football Team had a discouraging season while playing to an 0-8-0 record, but hung tough throughout the year.

The M.V.P. award went to Kurt Kanellis while Mark Haynes, Dave Howe, and Mike Foley also did a fine job.

It is unfortunate that the promise these players hold could not be translated into a happier statistic; we are confident that their football future is a bright one.

The 1973-74 girls varsity volleyball team was a great success. The team placed first in the EBAL Tournament and had fun in doing so. The coach, Nancy Eyler, is very pleased to have been able to help these girls in their victory. The most valuable player on the team was Trish Wyatt and the team captain was Vicki Douglas.

The 1973-74 girls junior varsity volleyball team was also a great hit. The j.v. team placed third in the EBAL Tournament with pride. The most valuable player on the team was Cheryl Jones and the team captain was Cinc Masters. Nancy Eyler was also the j.v. coach.

Hurting almost the entire season from the loss of last year's Most Valuable Runner Dave Camenson because of a hip injury, the 1973 Varsity Cross Country Team struggled to a 2-10 season. Fine performances were turned in all year from Most Valuable Runner and Team Captain Steve Anderson, Coach's Award Winner Dave Tutino, and Senior Jeff Tutino, but the team lacked depth and suffered bad breaks and close losses several times. Two late season wins over Acalanes and Liberty were aided by a healthy Camenson, a diligent Rob Jones, and consistent Chris Spina. Coach Spencer can look forward to next year's team, as he will lose only three seniors.

Due to the fine efforts of an excellent crop of freshmen and three outstanding sophomore runners, the 1973 Frosh-Soph Cross Country Team amassed a 7-1 league record and took second place in the EBAL. Led by sophomores John Smikahl, Kevin Meikle, Dave Leveque, and Frosh-Soph Most Valuable Brad Curry, the team showed the potential of a future powerhouse, shutting out three teams. Coach Spencer can be proud of his recruiting talents as well, as he picked up a great supply of freshmen runners such as Chuck Goodnight, Chris Lambert, Mike McKee and Nick Tutino, all of whom will make up a solid nucleus for next year's team.

Most athletic teams would consider a season of 9 wins and 3 losses as a successful one, but in the case of the Monte Vista tennis team it can only be considered mediocre, due to the quality of players on the team. All three losses were extremely close matches. This record indicates that the Mustang Netters should have a good chance at regaining the league crown; number one player Eric Thomas, and Jill Toney, the most publicized tennis player in Northern California last year, play major roles in this expectation.

Several fine tennis players will be lost to graduation; they are Brian McCroden, Greg Kinkel, and Lee Trolan. Hopefully the team will be able to compensate for the loss of these players.

The Junior Varsity Tennis Team ended its season with 2 wins and 6 losses. With hard work and conscientious application, they should supply next year's varsity with several good players.

This year's Monte Vista Varsity Basketball team broke numerous records throughout the season in compiling a respectable record of 15 wins and 10 losses. In league play the Mustangs ended with a record of 7 wins and 5 losses which earned a third place for Monte Vista in the E.B.A.L.

Leading in the scoring department, Doug Porter set new records for the most points in a single game and most points in a career. Neatly assisting his teammates and setting up the majority of the plays, John Peck also set several records. John now holds the records for assists in a single game and assists in a season.

Adding largely to the rebounding aspect of the game, the Mustangs were fortunate to have two 6'8" pivot men in Dennis Isaacson and Rob Jones. Also doing a fine job were Darrell St. Germain, who added greatly to the Mustang scoring, and Bob Gregor, who played aggressive defense throughout the season.

Coach Ray Crawford has obviously started building a strong basketball program at Monte Vista in only two short years. With a good supply of returning lettermen the Mustangs should be tough next year.

The Junior Varsity Basketball team made a bid for the championship this year but unfortunately fell a bit short, as they ended their season in second place. The J.V.'s played to a fine over-all record of 14 wins and 8 losses, and to a record of 7 wins and 5 losses in league competition. Combining such qualities as a fine ball handler in Ron Low, strong rebounding in Scott Trantina, and persistent scoring from Lance Blanshei, Paul Fischer, and Dwayne Pipal, the Mustangs showed that they contained the ability to win.

The quality of these players will be welcomed on next year's Varsity squad.

The Freshman Basketball team started their campaign a bit slowly this year, but came back strongly at the end of the season showing an abundance of promise. Closing their season with three victories, the Frosh brought their league record to 6 wins and 10 losses. The 1974 girls' varsity basketball team had an excellent season. The team won all of their league games and two of their non-league games. In the East Bay Athletic League with Monte Vista are California, Livermore, Dublin, San Ramon, Granada, and Amador high schools. After becoming E.B.A.L. champions, the team went on to a tournament in Hayward. The team had superb players with Paula Gregory, the high scorer. Aggressive under the boards are Bunny Chambers and Lori Gustavson. The coach was Barbara Tabler, Nancy Eyler's associate.

The 1974 Varsity Wrestling team struggled through a tough season, posting a 3-9 dual meet record. However, the squad showed great promise for the future, as it was composed mostly of sophomores and juniors who gained valuable experience throughout the tough campaign.

Junior Todd Rambo led the team with an outstanding record of 24-4. Bart Wooten, Casey Merrill, Bill Hoefs, and Tom McDaniel also wrestled well, as did a huge crop of outstanding underclassmen; Neil Halliday, John Tjan and Don Vivatson in particular.

The Junior Varsity-Novice team fared poorly in the record column too, despite the fine efforts of Mike Weinshelbaum & Curt Kanellis.

Coaches Randy Knudsen and Steve Marshall can be proud the team's performance despite its record, and look to next year when the Mustangs will have a good shot at winning the EBAL title that they lost this year.

This year's Varsity Soccer Team improved vastly as their season progressed; they ended with a record of 2-7-3. Early in the season the Mustangs showed a lack of practice, compared to their opponents, and lost vigorously on several occasions. By applying their swiftly improving talents, however, the Mustangs came back in the second half of the season and collected victories against San Ramon and Liberty; unfortunately they dropped several other close encounters.

All league honors were bestowed on Daryl Grandy, while Pete Turi was selected for the second team all-league, and Trevor Davies received honorable mention. Other players doing a fine job were Ted Pizanis, Steve Mellema, Fred Deltorchio, and Dennis Dow.

Looking into the future things look bright for next year's varsity. There are numerous Frosh-Soph players who will be stepping up to carry the load. Ending their season with a record of 3-9-4, the Frosh-Soph displayed a tastey amount of potential in such players as Bob Woore, Dave Pletz, Bob Turi, John Finley, and Chris Hadsell.

As the popularity of soccer increases in this Valley, so will the quality of our teams.

Gymnastics

Although Monte Vista had a small girls' gymnastics team, the 14 on the team did fairly well. Gymnastics is an individual sport. For Monte Vista Joline Gaffney, an intermediate freshman placed first in the E.B.A.L. all-around championships. Becky Sutherland placed second in beginners' competition. Also this year, for the first time, Monte Vista sent four girls to the sectional optionals. These girls were Joline Gaffney, intermediate, Becky Sutherland, Bea Shea, and Jane Bates, all beginners. The coach Leanne Foster is proud of all of the girls.

We want to know how you feel about this year's yearbook. Anyone with suggestions, opinions, criticisms or any other input is urged to write them down and put it in the RAPW box in the office. They will be taken into consideration in the creation of next year's annual.

VIZ is a special bonus magazine issued free to everyone who has bought this book. It will be sent to you by mail in early August.

you might also look on pages 136,137,178 & 179 which have lots of pictures of people on them, but none of those pages were noted in the index.

this is the editor's message (hello). you may think it is still the index, but you are mistaken. it is here because i've got a few things i'd like to say & this is the least conspicuous place i could think of to say them.

when work first started on the yearbook, i saw a film by Francois Truffaut called "Day for Night". in it, Truffaut says that he sees making a movie as being like a stage coach trip in the old west: when you start out you hope you'll have a pleasant journey, but pretty soon you just hope you'll make it to your destination. as it turned out, making a yearbook was a lot like that too. actually, it is amazing to me that it ever got done / there were an incredible number of hassles. some ideas survived, some just barely found their way to their pages but in unexpected form, and a lot of them died early on. we learned about doing it by DOING IT, but everyone does, i guess.

we tried to give it some life / did what we could to keep the yearbook from ending up in a box in the attic or in the garbage. i wish it showed a lot more of what the school & the people here are Really all about than it does / rapw will probably do incredible things in this direction next year.

in this editor's message i thought about thanking people who helped (people who weren't part of rapw but who saved us several times) like george McCoullough or mr. Kauffman, or thanking people who kept me from coming totally unglued (eeka, janice, lance, my family, etc.) or even thanking people in rapw who went above & beyond the call of duty (they know who they are), but i changed my mind at the last minute.

that's all i really have to say, except to urge you to paste stuff onto page 119 & put color in the white spaces around the pictures (see table of contents). illegitimi non carborundom / je

Mike: This year was a great one. Remember this summer with Linda, under the tree and in the "tunnel!" It seems as that was just yesterday. I want you to have the best summer of your life and don't mess yourself up. It's broken borders this is the summer. I would say see you next year, but I hope to see you before that. Stay cool.
